

10/12/13

I went to the beach and used my boogie board. I sat waiting for a huge wave to ride. I waited and waited and waited even more. I hadn't caught a wave for an hour and a half. The water was freezing!! But I got used to it. I started to think I wasn't going to catch a wave. I got out of the water and a huge wave came, but before I could get to it, it came all the way in, and I missed it.

I swam out on my board because I saw a big one! It was huge! I swam out, but I didn't position myself right, so I missed it. To position yourself right is to turn your back to the wave, and put your feet on the ground. If you can't, when the wave starts to get to you, you start to paddle a little.

over again. I had so much

I swam out on my board, because I saw a big one! It was huge! I swam out, but I didn't position myself right so I missed it. To position yourself right is to turn your back to the wave <sup>and</sup> put your feet on the ground, but if you can't, when the wave gets to you, start off with a little paddle, and when it starts to push you stop. But if you can reach the ground, push off when the wave reaches you. I was still having fun.

~~I~~ felt so good! I <sup>finally</sup> rode a wave for the first time in a long time. It was so relaxing to feel the cool breeze on my face and the cool water hit me on the way into the shallow parts. I had fun, but eventually, I got to the sand. I went back out into the deep, so I could do it all over again.

I felt so good! I had finally caught a wave. I rode it. I got a little salt water in my mouth, but I still rode it. It was awesome! I felt the cool breeze hit my face, I loved it!

You need one or two more zooms. I think you can do two!

This is an amazing
audience what it looked like when the boogie board
took you to the sand.
